

BSACI 2019 Barry Kay Award Winners

Poster number	Presenter First Name	Presenter Last Name	Institution	Category	Title	Country	All Authors
O 02	Nicola	Gray	Norfolk & Norwich Hospital	Adult Clinical	Can Birch pollen specific immunotherapy (BP-SIT) ameliorate the symptoms associated with pollen food syndrome?	UK	Nicola Gray, Michael Tarzi, Helen Smith, Anthony Frew
O 17	Matthew	Ridd	University of Bristol	Paediatric Clinical	Daily emollient for the first year of life for preventing eczema: results of the BEEP randomised trial	UK	Matthew Ridd, Joanna Chalmer, Robert Boyle, Lucy Bradshaw, Rachel Haines, Alan Montgomery, Michael Perkin, Sandra Lawton, Matthew Ridd, Sara Brown, Richard Swinden, Maeve Kelleher, Susan Davies-Jones, Kim Thomas, Stella Tarr, Tracey Sach, Eric Simpson, Carsten Flohr
O 12	James	Hindley	Indoor Biotechnologies Ltd	Basic Science	Development and validation of a novel multiplex immunoassay for the simultaneous quantification of food allergen proteins	UK	James Hindley, Stephanie Filep, Kristina Reid-Black, Jessica Lee, Brian Murphy, Denise Block, Maria Oliver, Anna Kuklinska-Pijanka, Max Bermingham, Martin Chapman
O 06	Lydia	Collins-Hussey	Oviva UK Ltd	Allied Health	The NHS Grampian Active Allergy Programme: A Digitally-Enabled Paediatric Dietetic Service for Cow's Milk Protein Allergy	UK	Lydia Collins-Hussey, Mark Jenkins, Carole Noble, Kathleen Ross
O 19	Isobel	El-Shanawany	University of Southampton	Primary Care	The Impact of a GP-led Community Paediatric Allergy Clinic: A Service Evaluation	UK	Isobel El-Shanawany, Charlotte Wade, Judith Holloway
P 117	Heather	Newton	University of East Anglia	Undergraduate	An audit into the long-term management of children and adolescents prescribed an adrenaline autoinjector	UK	Heather Newton